'Romanian Purge of "Extremists" Begins

THOUSANDS MAY BE "ELIMINATED" BY ANTONESCU

Von Killinger, Envoy From Berlin, In Bucharest To Begin Duties

IRON GUARD IN DANGER

Shortage Of Bread Noticed After Rioting; Pitched Fighting At End

LONDON, Jan. 24—New efforts by Romanian Premier Ion Antonescu to reach a settlement with the insurgent Iron Guardists have failed, a Reuters dispatch from Bucharest said today. The British agency said Antonescu himself announced failure of his efforts to reach an agreement with the rebels and added the premier "now has ordered the army to intervene."

BUDAPEST, Jan. 24—Smashing a radical Iron Guardist rebellion after fighting that cost thousands of lives, the government of Romanian Premier Ion Antonescu today was reported pushing a nation-wide purge in which thousands of extremists were arrested.

It was assumed that many of the arrested rebels were doomed to face firing squads.

(Editor's Note: DNE, the official German news agency, reported from Bucharest that Antonescu issued a proclamation stating order had been restored and thanking the Romanian army for its discipline and its readiness to make sacrifices.

(A decree by the Romanian general staff, this report said, emphasized that the army remained loyal to the government and ordered private citizens to surrender all arms and ammunition. Meanwhile, DNE stated, Baron Manfred Von Killinger, the new German ambassador to Romania, arrived at Bucharest and was given a reception by authorities.)

Rebels Still Resist
While the Romanian government appeared to be in control of the situation in most sections of the strife-torn nation, die-hard bands of rebels were still reported resisting at some points.

Advices from the frontier said the Bucharest town hall and police headquarters and six Transylvanian towns, including Arad and Timisoara, were still in the hands of the insurgents.

But it was stated that the 700 rebels barricaded in the Bucharest town hall.

SCHOOL CLASS LEADER, 17, KILLED IN AUTO MISHAP

FINDLAY, Jan. 24—Police today marked up another traffic fatality with the death in Findlay hospital of Harold Brown, 17, president of the Junior class at Carey High School, from injuries suffered in an auto accident. The car in which he was riding skidded on an icy pavement and crashed into a culvert.

Come to Fore as Civil War Rages in Romania

Horia Sima

Ion Antonescu

Franklin D. Roosevelt

WHILE muddled civil war raged in Romania among Iron Guard factions, the army, the police, civilians and possibly the German army, the men above have risen to prominence in the crisis. Premier Ion Antonescu is directing government action to quell the rioting that has brought death to thousands, while it was reported that one Guardist faction was demanding that Antonescu be replaced by Vice Premier Horia Sima, leader of a moderate Iron Guard wing. Franklin Mott Gunther, U. S. minister to the strife-ridden Balkan nation, was said to have placed a call through to Washington, only to have the connection broken by censors when he described the situation as critical. Some sources believed Baron Manfred von Killinger, German envoy to Bucharest, might be placed in command of the situation by Germany. He was reported en route to the Romanian capital.

WORK AT GIGANTIC DRYDOCK MENACED

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 24—American Federation of Labor officials were to confer today with leaders of 60 structural steel workers whose walk-out threatened delay in construction of the world's largest drydock at the Philadelphia navy yard.

The drydock, to be big enough to cradle a 60,000-ton super-dread-

POLICE CLEAR UP MANY LARCENY CASES IN CITY

Police officers Friday believed they had solved one auto larceny and a score of petit larceny cases which have been going on in the city since last fall when they arrested two local youths, Robert Shaffer, York Street, and Chester McCain, Town Street. Both are 19.

After the youths confessed stealing the automobile of Lloyd Ferguson, Route 3, December 26 and attempting to push it into the Scioto River, other confessions were obtained from them when Police Chief William McCrady promised that only the auto larceny charge would be held against them.

McCain was bound over to the grand jury on $1,000 bond which he failed to provide. He was committed to County Jail. Auto larceny charges against Shaffer were filed with Probate Judge Lemuel Weldon. Date for his hearing has not yet been set. Shaffer was recently released from Boys' Industrial School, Lancaster, where he served time for an auto larceny charge.

Chief McCrady and Patrolman Miller Fissell were led to the arrests when they obtained clues from a shot-gun recently stolen from George Goodchild's auto parked at the Elks Lodge.

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Jan. 24—Rear Admiral Russell Willson, until yesterday in command of Battleship Division One, United States navy, today was preparing to leave for Annapolis to become superintendent of the United States Naval Academy.

ANZACS TESTING DERNA DEFENSES

Mechanized Troops Rushing Across Desert To Lay Siege To Fascists

WITH THE BRITISH IMPERIAL ARMY AT TOBRUK, Jan. 24—Anglo-Australian mechanized forces that rushed across the Libyan desert with lightning speed today were reported probing Italian defenses at Derna, 100 miles west of captured Tobruk.

The new British imperial drive threatened not only Derna, where the Italians may offer a stiff battle, but far-off Benghazi, 225 miles west of this conquered Fascist stronghold, where an Anzac had now rests in triumph atop Tobruk's city hall flagpole instead of the Italian banner.

While some advance British tank and armored car units are reconnoitering and testing the Derna defenses, others have reached the town of Mekili, about 50 miles south of Derna.

There is no reliable information that Mekili as yet is in British hands, but British advances indicate that Italian forces have been withdrawing from desert outposts.

May Be Occupied
Thus it is possible that Mekili already may have been occupied by the hard-bitten Australians — (Continued on Page Eight)

MRS. ROSE C. GAMBLE, 89, IS VICTIM OF INFLUENZA

Mrs. Rose C. Gamble, 89, a lifelong resident of Circleville, died of influenza Friday morning after illness of 11 days. Death came at her home, 313 South Court Street. Mrs. Gamble, widow of Samuel C. Gamble, whom she married in 1888, was born in Circleville June 20, 1851, a daughter of Gottlieb F. and Henrietta Keffer Wittich.

She was a member of the Presbyterian Church. Survivors include a sister, Mrs. Ella Mearns; a brother, Frank Wittich, both of Circleville; two nieces, Mrs. Irvin Weart of Cherokee, Iowa, and Miss Lillian Mearns of Chillicothe, and two nephews, Loring J. and Fred E. Wittich of Circleville. A grandniece, Lois Ann Wittich, also survives.

The funeral will be Monday at 10:30 a. m. at the home, the Rev. Robert T. Kelsey officiating, with burial in Forest Cemetery by Link M. Mader. The funeral and burial will be private and the family asks that flowers be omitted. Friends may call at the home after 6 p. m. Saturday.

BOULDER TEARS THROUGH SCHOOL BUS, HURTS SEVEN

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Jan. 24—It was a "miracle," officials declared today, that not more than seven girls received minor injuries when a rolling boulder tore into the Rachel-Farmington school bus, knocking it off the road and upside down in a ditch. About 25 other pupils in the bus escaped uninjured.

Bruises and abrasions accounted for most of the injuries, it was stated at Fairmont General Hospital. The bus driver said he was unable to swerve from the path of the huge stone as it bounded down an embankment.

BRITAIN'S NEW ENVOY REACHES SHORES OF U. S.

Empire's Newest Warship Carries Halifax, Wife In Secret Journey

MILITARY COUP CLAIMED

Ambassador Scheduled To Land At Annapolis In Afternoon

LONDON, Jan. 24—A joint diplomatic and military coup was claimed by Great Britain today with announcement that Viscount Halifax, new British ambassador to Washington, had safely crossed the Atlantic aboard the huge new battleship King George V to take up his post in the United States. The battleship entered Chesapeake Bay this morning, and Lord Halifax was due to step ashore at Annapolis at about 2 p. m. Thence the ambassador will motor the short distance to Washington.

Successful conclusion of the hazardous journey through submarine and mine-infested waters on the newest and best battleship of His Majesty's fleet was officially announced and hailed on all sides as refutation of any and all German claims that Britannia's no longer mistress of the seas. The announcement, incidentally, was the first disclosure that the King George V—rushed to completion since the outbreak of war—had been actually commissioned for service.

Accompanied by Lady Halifax, the former foreign minister embarked from a northern British port on an undisclosed date.

Many at Farewell

Prime Minister and Mrs. Winston Churchill were on hand to bid him farewell, as were many other cabinet ministers, including Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, Minister of Labor Ernest Bevin, Lord Beaverbrook and Sir Walter Monckton.

Churchill was attired in his now familiar knee-length reefer jacket, with a sailor's cap on his head at a jaunty angle. Lord (Continued on Page Eight)

BIG NAMES USED BY THREE MEN IN FRAUD GAME

NEW YORK, Jan. 24—Three men were held by police today as the perpetrators of a fantastic confidence scheme in which the name of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., was forged to two phony $100,000 checks as part of a plot by which two glibbish Fifth Avenue shopkeepers were taken for a $7,000 loss.

In addition, it was charged, the defendants used the names of Grover A. Whalen and even District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey to convince their victims they were getting in on the ground floor of a highly improbable liquor deal which would return them $10 for every $1 invested.

One of the victims finally became curious enough to inquire at the bank about the fake $100,000 Rockefeller checks and the scheme was exposed. Those held were listed as Moses Gans, Jerome Koplick and Jean Munzer.

COURT MARTIAL FOR TWO SAILORS ASKED BY NAZIS

BERLIN, Jan. 24—Authoritative German quarters indicated today that the Reich will be satisfied and consider the case closed when two American sailors who tore down a swastika banner from the German consulate in San Francisco are turned over to a court martial.

They said that so far official verification had not yet reached Berlin of dispatches from San Francisco stating the sailors were given suspended sentences of 90 day each since they probably faced additional navy charges.

Germans Laud Lindbergh For Displaying Courage In Committee Testimony

BERLIN, Jan. 24—Authoritative German quarters said today that "one must take his hat off to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh for his exemplary courage" displayed in his testimony before the House Foreign Affairs committee in Washington yesterday.

(Editor's Note: Col. Lindbergh told the committee that he did not believe Britain could defeat Germany, even with American aid, unless Germany suffered an internal collapse. He said that with adequate defenses the United States was in no danger of invasion from overseas and that a negotiated peace to end the European war would be preferable to prolongation of the conflict.)

An authoritative German spokesman commented: "In the face of the moral terrorism which American interventionists have brought to bear against everyone differing from their fantasies, one must take his hat off to Col. Lindbergh for his exemplary courage."

"Few other persons would risk doing the same thing," Nazi quarters in Berlin expressed satisfaction that the American people are now getting a "second sight" of the European picture. They said: "We are glad that at least some Americans are left who see things as they really are in these times."

The order came after the police chief had conferred with Sheriff Charles Radcliff and had been assured that the local police would have the support of the sheriff's department in "cleaning up."

A recent Supreme Court ruling has classed all machines which entice persons to play as gaming devices, and such machines are unlawful, the police chief said. The order will not include ordinary gum, peanut or cigarette machines which fall into the vending machine classification, it was pointed out.

Neither will the order affect machines in private lodges in the city.

Sheriff's officers renewed their drive against gaming machines several weeks ago, after parents had protested that their children had been playing their lunch money in them. Several in the county which were not removed by their owners were confiscated.

ONE DIES, THREE HURT AS BLAZE HITS HOUSEBOAT

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 24—A 14-month-old child was burned to death early today and her parents and a 14-year-old brother sent to the hospital suffering burns and shock when their Allegheny River houseboat was destroyed by fire.

Maridean Griffith, the baby, was burned to death before her father, Bruce Griffith, 33, could rescue her from the flaming craft. He was burned attempting to rescue her. James Griffith, the son, was taken to the hospital with serious burns and the mother, Helen, 28, suffered shock at the loss of her youngest child and the sight of seeing her husband and son burned in the hot flames which swept over the houseboat before aid could be summoned.

Cause of the blaze was not immediately determined.

MILLION IN OHIO HAVE BEEN ILL, HEALTHIER SAYS
COLUMBUS, Jan. 24—Although he believes the peak of the epidemic has been reached and passed, State Health Director R. H. Markwith today estimated that the staggering total of 1,000,000 Ohioans have been ill of influenza and kindred illnesses since the first of the year.

"Industrialists have reported to me that their absences have ranged from four to five percent daily," Dr. Markwith said. "This indicates that more than twice as many persons as usual have been ill so far this month. Normally industrial absences range only a fraction above two percent."

Basing his estimate on the number of work hours lost, the director said that probably one of every seven persons in the state has been stricken by illness this (Continued on Page Eight)

STATE TO BUILD ROAD TO NEW FEDERAL PROJECT

COLUMBUS, Jan. 24—To provide adequate transportation facilities for the huge government arsenal being constructed near Ravenna, the Ohio Highway Department and the federal government will cooperate in a 14-mile improvement project on Route 5 west of Warren, State Highway Director Hal G. Sours announced today.

The cost of relocating, widening and resurfacing the route will be approximately $1,000,000, Sours said. Construction work will begin about July 1, he added.

ARMY, NAVY MEN TO APPEAR FOR HOUSE HEARING

Effort Of Rep. Fish To Let Public Hear Questioning Overruled

INVITATIONS ARE ISSUED

Marshall Asks Executive Session To Speak Of Lease-Lend Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24—Democratic members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee today refused to permit the two top-ranking officers of the Army and Navy to testify on the lease-lend bill in a public session, but decided that they would be invited to appear behind closed doors.

Overriding Republican protests, the Democratic members cancelled a previously authorized invitation extended by Rep. Fish (R) N. Y. to Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the Army; Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations and acting chief of the Army Air Corps, Maj. Gen. George H. Brett, and then extended the new invitations.

Fish raised the question as to whether "higher authority" had been invoked to prevent public questioning of the Army and Navy chiefs on the "all out" British aid measure, but got no answer from Committee Chairman Bloom (D) N. Y.

Letter Made Public

Bloom made public a letter from Gen. Marshall in which the general said he was informed last night "by the chairman of the committee that my presence had not been requested by the committee."

"In view of the fact that my testimony would be that of the chief of staff of the Army, rather than that of an individual, I would prefer to appear on the request of the committee," Gen. Marshall wrote.

"I take the liberty of suggesting that if my presence is desired by the committee, the hearing be in executive session in order that I might make complete and frank replies to the questions that probably would be asked."

Foes of the measure were given their last day of testimony. Rep. Hamilton Fish urged ex-Secretary of War Henry Woodring to fly to Washington from Kansas to testify, and said that he would have 50 witnesses on the stand, probably keeping the committee into session until midnight.

Rep. Bloom (D) N. Y., chairman of the committee, in charge of the bill, will close the administration's case tomorrow.

Already assured of a majority in the committee for the bill, Bloom plans a formal report recommending passage late next week.

Opinions Differ

Lindbergh's testimony evoked both praise and regret from committee members. Fish, who is leading the fight against the measure, declared that "Lindbergh made a complete case against the bill in its present form, demolished arguments based on hysteria and proved himself a staunch American and advocate of peace."

"Well," observed Rep. Jarman (D) Ala., "Lindbergh certainly painted a gloomy picture of the world, I hope he isn't right."

Lindbergh made it plain to friends that he is in for a last-ditch battle to prevent the United States from being embroiled in the European war. He told the committee that he gave up his period of active duty in the War Department so that he could devote his whole energies to halting the trend.

The "lone eagle" also told (Continued on Page Eight)

BRITISH SINK BIG SUPPLY SHIP ENROUTE TO LIBYA

LONDON, Jan. 24—The British submarine Pathian sank a heavily-laden 7,000-ton Italian supply ship south of Italy, the admiralty announced today. The ship presumably was carrying supplies to the Fascist army in Libya.

CHIEF OF DRAFT ASKS DOCTORS TO BE CAREFUL

Light Points Out That 13 Percent Of Men Sent To Army Post Rejected

MANY DEFECTS FOUND

Of 1,161 Men Received For Year's Service, 151 Go Back To Homes

State Selective Service Director Gilson D. Light, Friday, appealed to medical examiners of local draft boards for more strict examination of selectees at their home stations.

Pointing to the rejection of 13 percent of Ohioans sent to army induction stations in the first two days of the second draft, Adjutant General Light said that he hoped the percentage could be reduced considerably if local board examinations were "tightened up."

Of the 1,161 men who were examined at induction centers, 151 were rejected because of poor vision, bad teeth, flat feet, a weak heart or other disabilities.

Light suggested that local boards in one area might co-operate in the examinations. Five physicians specializing in different branches of medicine and working together could examine selectees faster and more efficiently than they could by working individually, he said. He added that the system had been adopted in some counties "with very good results."

LONDONERS ENJOY FOURTH NIGHT WITHOUT AIR RAID

LONDON, Jan. 24—London awoke today after its fourth consecutive night of respite from German air raids—the longest night-time lull the British capital has enjoyed since the Nazi air blitz last September.

An Air Ministry spokesman said merely that there was "nothing to report." It was understood adverse weather prevented RAF activity over the continent during the night.

(Editor's Note: A German announcement said a Nazi bomber yesterday afternoon scored several direct hits on a 12,000-ton merchant ship off Felixtowe and returned safely to its base after being pursued by British fighters.)

Hearings to Open Next Week in Ohio Assembly

COLUMBUS, Jan. 24—Just how much influence the Bricker administration wields in the Republican-dominated 94th General Assembly may be determined within a week after standing committees in the Senate and House begin to grind out bills already assigned but not acted on, it was indicated today.

With a total of 115 bills submitted to date in the House and 51 in the senate, the committees are expected to open hearings on a number of them shortly after the legislative reconvenes next Monday night.

The real test of strength undoubtedly will come when GOP-ruled committees begin recommending for passage or turning down proposed measures to appropriate additional millions for various departments and services during the current biennium.

The Bricker administration is banking heavily on the estimated $6,000,000 surplus in addition to savings on relief and allocations to local subdivisions to provide money needed for its proposed program.

Increases Planned

Suggested by the governor are increased appropriations totaling $10,960,000 for the Old Age Pension and Welfare Departments, state universities and the school foundation program, with a possible $5,000,000 for a welfare building program.

Administration leaders believe they can carry out the chief executive's program, and indicated they expect to "with variations." However, what apparently is worrying them is the "pressure" being put on to obtain additional funds for local subdivisions.

Pending in the House and already passed by the Senate is legislation appropriating an additional $2,209,210 to reimburse cities for money spent last year for poor relief. Rep. Ballard (R-Jackson), chairman of the House finance committee intimated that hearings on the measure probably would begin sometime next week.

In addition, bills have been submitted to increase from $12,000,000 to $17,000,000 annually the local subdivision's share of state tax collections. The administration definitely is opposed to such a move.

Also on tap is a proposed $5,000,000 appropriation for highway construction from unexpended balances.

Legislators admit those proposals add up to a tidy sum, even for lawmakers who are used to talking in millions, and they and administration leaders are worried.

According to Ballard, "little" may be done about bills calling for the spending of huge sums of money until the House determines its policy regarding such matters and until legislators are informed about just how much money may be expected from various sources during the biennium.

Republican legislative leaders admit it may be difficult to lure away support from bills that would provide additional funds for the "folks back home" who elect representatives and senators. But they still have hopes of keeping such appropriations to a minimum so they may keep their pledge of "no new taxes."

Enough bills have been assigned so that every committee in both Houses may begin holding hearings next week.

BURTON WOULD CREATE NEW FEDERAL POSITION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24—
Ohio's new Republican senator, Harold H. Burton, today had his first bill in the Senate hopper—a measure to create an additional federal judgeship for the northern district of Ohio.

Senator Burton issued a statement pointing out that the volume of business in this district had tripled since 1923 while the number of judges has increased from only two to three.

RECKLESSNESS CHARGED

Harold Reeser, Maplewood Avenue, was arrested on warrant from Washington C. H. police Thursday on charges of reckless driving. He was turned over to Washington C. H. authorities for prosecution.

Loses His Wife

TRAGEDY is graven on the face of Kenneth Steadman, 28, insurance firm supervisor, as he hears in Pittsburgh the story of the slaying of Robert Emery, the man for whom his wife deserted him. Emery was poisoned and strangled to death in Boston. Mrs. Steadman is charged with killing Emery, father of two children and husband of a friend of hers.

RADIO, PHONE OPERATORS BEING SOUGHT FOR ARMY

There are openings for radio and telephone operators and technicians in the 18th Signal and Service Company, according to announcement today by Captain H. I. Marks, Company Commander, Fort Hayes, O.

Men trained as radio commercial operators, licensed amateur operators, commercial telegraph operators, preferably with typing ability; also telephone installation and repair men with pole, line and underground experience; automatic switchboard equipment installers and trained clerks—steno-graphers, are sought to fill some 35 positions.

Experienced, high type men, at least 18 and not yet 35 years of age and of good moral character who can meet the usual Army physical requirements, will be considered for three year enlistments.

"Our organization is seeking trained men to fill existing vacancies. There are many opportunities for rapid promotion. Men in the Signal Corps receive compensation in addition to the usual soldier's pay commensurate with individual ability. Any radio or telephone men wishing to be considered for this service may directly contact the 18th Signal Service Company, Fort Hayes, Columbus, Ohio, or obtain particulars at the nearest recruiting station," Captain Marks said.

APPLICATIONS FOR TWO CITY JOBS ARE SOUGHT

Applications for the Civil Service examination to fill the eligible lists for non-technical operator of the disposal plant and for patrolman must be returned not later than 5 p. m. Saturday, the Civil Service Commission has announced.

Applicants must be resident voters and for patrolman must be not less than five feet six inches tall and weigh not less than 155 pounds. They must be between 24 and 38 years old.

The examination will be held Tuesday at 7 p. m. in the Council Chamber.

POSTOFFICE TO INSTALL MONEY ORDER MACHINE

Circleville Postoffice will receive a new money order machine.
According to Postmaster Hulse
Hays, Friday, the new machine will make it possible to record numbers of money orders, amounts and fees all in one operation. The increase in the number of money orders handled by the postal department have made the new machine necessary, the postmaster said.

WET SNOW HITS CENTRAL REGION

City, State Road Workers
Busy Aiding Traffic
In District

With temperatures slightly below freezing, three inches of wet sticky snow, the heaviest of the season, covered Circleville and vicinity late Thursday night and brought service crews into action early Friday to clear streets and highways for traffic.

Service department employees cleared the snow from all main streets in the city with a grader and drag and reported at noon that most of the streets were clear. Streets were not exceptionally slippery, they reported, and said that unless temperatures dropped they believed it would be unnecessary to apply sand.

State Highway crews were out at 4 a. m. Friday, using their snow plow for the first time this season. Driving conditions were hazardous, they said, but reportedly they had removed snow from Route 22, 23 and 56 and had applied sand and calcium to the hills and curves.

Snow was being removed from the side roads in the county after the main highways had been cleared.

TO PUMPKIN SHOW BOSSES

DIRECTORS: All of you are striving to make the 1941 Pumpkin Show a great success, and I hope that you will be successful in your efforts. If the show is a flop, it is just about certain that the big festival will be abandoned as "washed up", but there are hundreds of us who believe that the celebration can be successful if the entire community will get back of it. By supporting it, I do not mean by just attending, but I do mean by contributing money, and by "talking up" the celebration every minute that it is possible. The Pumpkin Show needs support of everyone, not just the persons who are directing its activities, giving their time and effort and hearing little except criticism to justify their labors. I believe you have taken a forward step in advancing the celebration by two weeks, and I feel certain that elimination of free acts will not be detrimental to the success of the festival. Truly, many persons watched the high pole and acrobatic performances, but many more, I believe, would rather watch local competitive events than they would the efforts of professional entertainers. More stress can be placed on certain departments and less on others, as you directors have decided. Parts of the show that fail to attract the numbers that they should attract, and fail to make expenses if they are conducted on that system should be eliminated. You should retain and add features that will entertain the thousands of persons who come to Circleville during the week, and you should strive, by all means, to set up definite budgets that will mean elimination of much expense that might seem trivial but which mounts up to high totals ere the year is ended.

TO SPORTSMEN

SIRS: Efforts now are being made in the Ohio legislature to return the quail to the game bird list. The action has followed the recent annual meeting of the League of Ohio Sportsmen, when a resolution was unanimously passed authorizing its legislative committee to draw up a Bob White-quail shooting code for presentation to the legislature. It is reported that the league's legislative committee will recommend hunting in the southern and southeastern counties of the state. Fairfield, Hocking, Ross and Clinton Counties are definitely stipulated, and although Pickaway was not mentioned, the quail supply here undoubtedly would be affected by an open season in neighboring counties. Quail has been on the song bird list for 27 years; its number is still not large. It does absolutely no damage to farm crops, and many farmers, as well as conservation men, estimate that each quail through the consumption of weed seeds, is worth $100 annually. If you intend to keep the good-will of the farmers, and if you expect to hunt on their farms in the future, it would be wise to keep quail, "the farmer's friends," on the song bird list.

TO NORFOLK AND WESTERN

RAILROAD: Circleville was pleased to learn recently that another major Norfolk and Western project was under way within its limits. And it is pleased to know that before warm weather your railroad will spend somewhere in the neighborhood of $200,000 for new track scales near the Mound Street crossing. The program is a big one, and is certain to keep crews of laborers in Circleville at least until April. To the N. and W., the project means more modern railroad operation; to Circleville, the project means much money spent, a good part of which will be in Circleville, and at the same time the city takes pleasure in welcoming improvement in the N. and W. lines. The railroad is one of the community's vital industries and all of us hope that it continues to enjoy unlimited success.

TO THE WEATHERMAN

SIR: The damp cold weather you have been giving us the last few days certainly does not win you a medal as a crusader against influenza. Your contrariness has kept many coughing and sneezing, and has prevented the county's worst "flu" epidemic in years from receding as rapidly as we would like. How about a little dry weather and sunshine next week.

TO CITY EMPLOYEES

GENTLEMEN: Your departments definitely will suffer through the slashes taken by City Council in its 1941 appropriations for your current expenses. For you who in the past have been operating on a minimum budget, the cuts are additionally severe. There is no doubt but that all of you will have to buckle down on expenses, in many cases until it pinches. However, accusing councilmen of partisanship and unfair dealing will not increase your appropriations. On the contrary it only creates dissension between your departments and the council and among the individual members of your departments. Whether or not the cuts can be justified is no longer the question. The ordinance has passed. The thing to do is to make the best of it.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

CONCERNING the White House plan for our own defense and for aid to the democracies Senator Robert LaFollette of Wisconsin makes a different point from the congressional isolationists' and appeasers' and would negotiate peacekeepers.

He doesn't so much emphasize adverse criticism of the proposed program, on its merits as a national policy, or suggest alternatives to it, like members of the other groups mentioned. What he objects to is the concentrated form of its administration, contemplated in the pending legislation to launch the country upon the course outlined.

The presidential request, he says, isn't for a mere "blank check." It's a demand that Congress abdicate vital powers. That is, according to the Wisconsin solon, these "vital powers," constitutionally congressional, are to be surrendered by Congress to an individual chief executive.

President Roosevelt explains that he doesn't necessarily want the power for himself personally but that somebody has to have it, in the interest of quick action.

Young Bob has a fairly sizable bloc of followers, who, however, didn't express the idea he enunciates quite as promptly and concretely as he did. Churning in with him they argue that delegation of the controverted powers to someone other than F. D. R. wouldn't make any material difference; it simply would set up the other chap as a dictator. "Who cares who the dictator is?" the LaFollette group choruses; they don't want any dictator whatever. They want Congress to hang onto all its own constitutional powers.

There's a good bit of this sentiment on Capitol Hill.

CONGRESS JEALOUS

Congress always has been jealous of its rights and resentful of anything its members regarded as executive encroachments upon them.

It's a feeling which has been accentuated by virtual extinguishment, in recent years, of legislative bodies, not only in totalitarian lands, but in some, such as France, which previously rated as thoroughly democratic.

Indeed, American newspaper editorials have freely remarked of late that Washington today has about the only sure-enough parliamentary outfit still functioning on earth. Even Britain's lawmaking set-up has been referred to as more or less hamstringing.

Comment of this sort has greatly impressed our own senators and representatives — our senators particularly. For some reason they're decidedly prouder of their chamber than the lower house crowd is of its branch. The representatives can become extremely snippy when they think the senate is disposed to disregard their special prerogatives, as in the matter of legislation. Generally speaking, though, the senators are the chaps whose ugly streak manifests itself at the first hint that they're being slighted.

Consequently it's in the senate that opposition's most conspicuous thrust to the presidential "help the democracies" plan.

The White House and its congressional leaders and leading spokesmen recognized this from the first. That's why they gave their program its send-off in the house of representatives, hoping to get it so overwhelmingly endorsed as to intimidate the senators. They didn't want to get involved in a mean and possibly prolonged senate fight initially.

IT WILL PASS

And, as I already have had occasion to remark, much the best guess is that it also will be pretty briskly adopted by the senate, too, when the desired legislation arrives there.

Nevertheless Senator LaFollette hit on a responsive senatorial chord, with his implication of a dictatorial tendency. The isolationists, appeasers and would-be negotiated peace-makers were quick to sense it. They're joining in with Bob enthusiastically. They think that maybe his tune is better than their respective melodies are. And they harmonize, anyway.

The duce of it is that Young Bob's been a very cordial New Dealer hitherto, though a Progressive, not a Democrat.

Baby on a Trapeze

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

● Every fond young parent, at least every fond young papa parent, has been astonished at the fact that his almost new-born baby will hang on to a finger, even to the extent that it can be raised in the air by its hands. I have no doubt that Adam chuckled over Cain and Abel's ability to do this. It was not, however, until 1891 that this accomplishment was raised to the level of a scientific doctrine when one L. Robinson published in the Nineteenth Century an essay called "Darwinism in the Nursery."

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

The title derived from the fact that the human baby shares this instinctive reflex with the apes and monkeys. This curious ability of the new-born human infant to suspend the weight of its body in midair by the strength of its own grip has suggested a number of questions:

Meaning of Action

Why should the new-born be capable of a striking performance which for him has no recognized utility?

What happens to this ability as the child grows to maturity? Does the loss or the retention of this ability at any given age denote a retardation of development, or the contrary?

Answers to these questions have been seriously sought and seem to be as follows:

The reflex can be obtained in practically all new-born infants, though there are exceptions.

It tends to disappear or become weaker after the first few months of life.

But though present at birth and gone at six months, it attains its maximum strength at about four weeks.

There is no appreciable difference in the gripping strength of the right and left hands.

It is a reflex and after the reflex phase has passed, deliberate voluntary grasping should begin to be manifested.

Measure of Development

Real interest in the phenomenon centers in the fact that it is a rough measurement of brain development. The cortex of the brain is not developed at all at birth and consequently the grasping reflex must be the result of stimulation of lower nerve centers in the cord. Later on, as the brain develops, grasping and the position of suspension are of a different character. Thus the new-born grasps your forefingers and as you lift him, the arms are held forward almost at right angles to the chest, the head is thrown back, and the legs are drawn up on the abdomen. Later on in the voluntary suspension of an older child, the arms are allowed to be pulled up directly over the head, the head is thrust forward for balance, and the legs hang directly down in line with the rest of the body.

Thus you young parents have in this age-old game a test of your child's brain development.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
M. Y.: "Was thinking of bringing cans of fruit juices to my office for my afternoon refreshment instead of Coca-Cola, and wanted to use a beer can opener and drink from the can if it is all right to do so. Please answer in your column whether or not it is merely superstition that food will become contaminated if left to stand over a few minutes in the can."

Answer:—Fruit juices are a natural medium for green growth and if not kept at a refrigerated temperature contamination is likely to occur after opening the can. However, this is a matter of hours and it does no harm to drink fruit juice from the can so long as you do so at one sitting.

CHAPTER THIRTY-SEVEN

IT WAS a tense space of time until Rand answered the chief's belated question. I was eager to hear his reply. What could the man have meant by saying that "If it had been Cary now!"

"I shouldn't have said that," Rand's tone was grave. "Can't you forget it?" All bluster was forgotten; he was speaking man to man. What would the chief do?

He eyed Rand closely. Then his face hardened into the most implacable expression I have even seen.

"No, I can't forget it," he shouted. "What—did—you—mean?"

"Just this." Without further parley, Rand submitted to the chief's demand. "Mark has always been Althea Essex's favorite among the cousins. I honestly believe he was the only living person she cared a flip about. She wouldn't—I am willing to gamble my life on this—do one thing to hurt him, far less kill him. I don't feel that way about Cary. She resented her brother's marriage, hated his wife and, when the children, Cary and Janet, came along, she extended her hatred to them as well. If Cary had been killed instead of Mark, I certainly would have considered her." He shook his head emphatically. "But not Mark!"

The chief gave a sudden start. "And suppose," he said sharply, "that Mark was mistaken for Cary? He was sitting in Cary's accustomed seat, looked so much like him, as he lay over the desk, that when I walked into the room, I wondered for an instant if Janet hadn't made a mistake—if it were not Cary—who had been killed."

Augmented horror and fear flowed over me. If the chief were right, if it were Cary the murderer had intended to kill, then he might still be in the gravest danger!

Proctor spoke, with a trace of exultation in his tone. "In that case, Chief Crane, you've eliminated dad. He certainly didn't stop here at 10-25 to kill Cary, when he was expecting him to be at Rand House at 10. He couldn't know that Cary wouldn't wait until he got home. I've waited much longer than 25 minutes for a man I had an appointment with."

Proctor Rand certainly wasn't dumb. His mind worked alertly and logically. The made him just that much more dangerous.

In the short silence which ensued I became aware of a commotion in the hall. I hadn't heard the door open, probably because Proctor's voice, not low at any time, was booming out his defense of his father.

Dave Otis' entrance created a diversion. Kaye must have recognized his voice, for, before he appeared, she was sitting on the edge of her chair, staring eagerly in the direction of the hall. Now, at his entrance, she sprang from her chair, rushed across the room, threw her arms around him and, before the chief could interfere if he wished to do so, cried:

"Dave! Dave! Mark's dead, and they're trying to say you did it!"

Whether she was motivated by horror at her brother's death and love and terror that Dave might be wrongly suspected or if she deliberately warned him of what was coming I never knew, but, at least, she had prevented Chief Crane from springing a surprise on him, as he had done on Rand.

The chief didn't like her action. I think in that instant deeper suspicion was aroused in him, suspicion which did not again leave him until the end. He sprang to his feet, followed her across the room, and accusingly eyed Dave, who, blankly around their necks, and supporting her shaking form, for Kaye's words were followed by weeping so violent that it was all Dave could do to prevent her from collapsing. In the shock of her words, his arms tightened involuntarily about her, but it was to the chief he spoke.

"Is it true, Chief? Is Mark Gould dead?"

Gloomily enough, the chief nodded. All hope of springing a surprise upon Dave was gone.

"But what—how—for heaven's sake tell me about it!"

The chief paid no attention to his words. He helped Dave, still supporting Kaye's sobbing form, cross to the divan where I was sitting. Men, no matter how dearly they may love a woman, hate to have a weeping, snuffling form plastered around their necks, and Dave was no exception. He tried to release himself from Kaye's frantic grip, but she was beyond control.

"For pity's sake, Kaye," he said irritably, "let me alone."

At that she unclenched her hands, sat up and gave him the most reproachful look I ever saw, but he didn't pay a bit of attention to her. Every faculty was directed to the chief.

"Where were you this evening?" asked the chief, the moment Kaye removed her arms from Dave's neck and sat up.

"I've been all over. What time do you mean?"

"I'm asking the questions. Where?"

And then we had another shock. That same policeman—I'll never forget his face; it still haunts me in nightmares—appeared in the doorway. By his side was Alice, the second girl. She was swollen faced, tears still dripped down her cheeks. She didn't hesitate; her arm shot out before her, shaking finger pointed straight at Dave.

"That's the one," she cried hysterically. "That's the one. He killed him. I heard them in an awful fight."

"Are you sure of that?" snapped the chief.

"Sure? Of course I'm sure. She could have told you long ago. I saw her, too, sneaking along through the bushes."

To my dismay that threatening forefinger swung around and pointed straight at me, and as unerringly as a compass needle turns to the north every eye turned toward me.

The chief was furious. His eyes fairly shot flames at me. "Why didn't you tell me that?" he roared. "What the so and so is this? An all-around hold-out?"

And at that I lost my temper completely.

"That's perfectly ridiculous," I snapped. "Mark and Dave were arguing on the lawn when I was out walking, and that was around nine o'clock. As for telling YOU anything—I haven't had a chance." I glared at him just as savagely as he was glaring at me.

"Take the girl away," he yapped at the policeman. "I'll talk with her later." "Now," returning to Dave, "what about that fight?"

Dave's face had subtly changed. Sorrow and regret marked it.

"Lord, Chief," he exclaimed, "if I'd dreamed anything could happen to Mark, I'd have used different tactics, but he made me so mad I went at him hammer and tongs."

"Go on!" The chief was curiously insistent.

"I came over about 10 minutes of nine to tell Kaye that I'd have to cancel our date tonight as Corson, a man I'm doing some business with, telephoned that he'd be over about 10. I tried to get him to come earlier, but he couldn't, he had an appointment earlier. I came across the lawn as I always do and met Mark. I had a hurry to get back home. I had some figuring to do before Corson came, and I asked Mark if he'd give me my message to Kaye. He jumped on me at once. Said I was not to come to Purple Beeches again, that Kaye was going to marry Proctor Rand."

With a gloating leer on his face, Proctor straightened himself in his chair, but his triumph swiftly faded when Kaye cried:

"It's a lie, Dave. You know I'll never marry anyone but you."

Dave didn't notice her interruption; he went gravely on:

"That's when we had our argument or fight, if you want to call it that. I didn't believe him and told him so. We had it hot and heavy for a while, and in the end I again asked him to give Kaye my message and said I'd see her in the morning. He said she didn't want ever to see me again, and I needn't try to see her. I was fit to be tied, but I couldn't very well force myself into Purple Beeches if they didn't want me, so I came home, intending to call Kaye."

"I found Corson had come earlier than he expected and brought Tracy, the man his appointment was with, along. We went over the figures alone and together, had several long confabs. First I'd be with Corson and Tracy, and then they'd have a session together. Every time I was alone, and I needn't try to see her. I was fit to be tied, but I couldn't very well force myself into Purple Beeches if they didn't want me, so I came home, intending to call Kaye."

Mr., Mrs. Herschel Hill Surprised By Friends

Members Of Club Participate In Housewarming

Mr. and Mrs. Herschel T. Hill, who recently removed from their home at 639 South Court Street to their newly built residence on Northridge Road, were honored with a surprise 'house warming' Thursday evening by members of their bridge club.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Steele, Mr. and Mrs. Barton Deming, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kluge, Jr., of Circleville and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cromley of Ashville were present for the delightful party.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill received a beautiful gift from the group. Auction bridge was played during the evening, prizes for scores being awarded Mrs. Deming and Mr. Steele.

The group enjoyed a buffet supper, arranged cooperatively, at the close of the evening.

Presby-Weds Meet
About 30 members of the Presby-Weds enjoyed a cooperative dinner Thursday in the social room of the Presbyterian Church.

The diversion of the interesting evening was a quiz program arranged by Dr. and Mrs. David Goldschmidt, Mr. and Mrs. Delos Marcy and Ted Steele, members of the hospitality committee.

During an informal discussion of plans for the group, it was decided to have an attendance contest between the men and women, the losers to entertain the winners at dinner. It was decided also to donate the lovely potted primula, which had been the centerpiece of dinner table, for use on the communion table at the Sunday morning service.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Blake and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Moeller were named on the social committee for the next session, February 20.

Business Women's Club
Fourteen members of the Business and Professional Women's Club met Thursday in the club rooms, Masonic Temple, for an informal business session following the dinner served at the Betz restaurant.

An invitation was read for the club to attend the district meeting March 30 in Zanesville. Action on the invitation will be taken at a later session. It was decided to postpone the annual card party of the club until after Easter. Tentative plans for forming a health club were discussed. Mrs. F. E. Barnhill served as president pro tem.

Scioto Grange
Scioto Grange met in postponed session Wednesday in the Scioto School auditorium with C. M. Beatty, overseer, conducting the meeting in the absence of Dwight Bethards, worthy master. Owing to the prevailing illness in the community, only 40 grangers and juveniles were present.

The program of the evening was in charge of Mrs. Evelyn W. Grace, lecturer, with "Onward Marching" being sung by the grangers for the opening number; vocal solo, "I Am an American," Carol Lee Francis, Mrs. Clarence Shipley playing the piano accompaniment; talk on activities of the State Grange meeting in Cleveland, C. M. Reid of Star Grange; closing song, "The Grange is Marching".

Mrs. Grace announced that C. E. Webb, conservation agent, would present the program at the next session.

Papyrus Club
Members of the Papyrus Club will meet Tuesday at 8 p. m. at the home of George W. Groom, West Mound Street. The regular meeting night has been changed for this session because of the postponed meeting of the Monday Club.

"CAPTAIN JANUARY"
When Shirley steps up to the Radio Theatre microphone on Monday, to do "Captain January" she'll have two veteran actors who've never been known to turn in a bad performance in her company. They are Charles Winninger and Gene Lockhart who'll take important roles in the full-hour drama at 9 p. m.

Charles Winninger played the Captain in the "Showboat" radio series and has continued playing spluttery but lovable elderly gentlemen in movie after movie. Gene Lockhart's outstanding portrayal during 1940, according to the movie critics as Stephen Douglas in the picturization of "Abe Lincoln in Illinois."

NEWSOM CLAIMS TIGERS TO WIN GONFALON AGAIN

By Saul Pett

DETROIT, Jan. 24—Louis Newsom "Buck" Newsom, a leading man along with Bobby Feller in the Hot Stove Baseball League mystery drama—who is baseball's highest paid pitcher—now playing in Detroit and Cleveland, declared quite emphatically today that "I know my new contract is well over Feller's."

Interviewed in his luxurious hotel suite, Newsom was asked how it felt to be the "highest paid pitcher" in the history of baseball.

"Boy, it feels good," grinned Buck. "Yes sir, it's good. But I'm not surprised. I've always been the hardest working pitcher in baseball."

Until today, Buck has been unusually quiet about the whole matter which had its inception in Cleveland earlier in the week when Owner Alva Bradley, of the Cleveland Indians, announced that his Bobby Feller would earn the juiciest pay check in 1941. Bradley handed out no specific figure, but neither did he deny that Feller's contract was for $30,000 or better.

Whereupon, Owner Walter Briggs of the Tigers countered with the statement that Newsom received $30,000 in 1940 and that his ace's signature was on the dotted line for a substantial increase this year.

Switching to performances for the pending season, Newsom predicted this would be his "best year." He said he would win one or more games than he did last year—his 1940 mark was 21 wins and five losses during the regular playing season and two wins and a loss in World Series encounters against Cincinnati.

"The Tigers," said Buck quite confidently, "will win the pennant again. Yeah, I know no one is picking us, but no one did last year. We've got the experience now. We've got the same fighting spirit we had last year when no player thought of going to the office to complain about something." (You guessed it. Buck was referring to the Cleveland players' juvenile outburst last year.)

The New York Yankees, according to Newsom's predictions, will wind up in second place this year with Cleveland third and the St. Louis Browns, for whom he used to pitch, in the fourth slot.

JUDGES TO CLOSE ANNUAL MEETING WITH ELECTION

COLUMBUS, Jan. 24—The Ohio Juvenile Judges Association was to close its annual convention today with the election of officers. Judge J. H. Lanneck, of New Philadelphia, currently is president.

In their business sessions the judges approved proposals which would:

Require the approval of juvenile judges before detention homes could be constructed;

Amend the law which now requires that two physicians determine whether a child needs medical attention to read "one or more physicians;" and

Allow the placing of children who are court wards in homes outside Ohio if deemed advisable.

However, a proposal that the judges seek retirement legislation met with heated opposition.

Any retirement system financed solely by state or local funds "is relief, not retirement," Judge Vernon Smith of Portsmouth declared. Judge Lanneck devoted his address to a plea that delinquent children on probation be placed in foster homes rather than in institutions.

JURORS FIND DAMAGES FOR FRANKLIN COUNTY MAN

A Franklin County jury, Thursday afternoon, returned a verdict of $3,000 against Dr. D. V. Courtwright of Circleville in the $20,000 suit of Edward Carle, Lockbourne R. F. D. 1. Carle sought damages as a result of injuries received November 22, 1939, in an automobile collision at Route 23 and the Canal Road in Franklin County.

C.A.C.-Stone Team Wins From Newark, 48 to 46

Carl Purcell Gets Winning Bucket After Hard-Fought Game; Gregg, Roush, Mercer Provide Most Of Fireworks In Tilt

The Goddess of Luck finally turned her beaming face on cagers of the Circleville Athletic Club-Stone's Grill, Thursday evening, and the locals won a thrilling basketball game from the fast Corning-Owens team of Newark. The final score was 48-46, Carl Purcell, veteran star of the C.A.C. team, getting the winning bucket after the score was deadlocked at 46-46.

For the last several weeks the C.A.C.-Stone team has been losing its ball games after hard fights, Akron Collegians, Bobb Chevrolet and Bliss College taking edges by narrow margins.

The game thrilled Thursday evening's crowd, because some of the finest basketball exhibited in a good many years was put out.

Junior Gregg and Red Roush did most of the winner's scoring, each annexing 14 points. Buddy Mercer, all-state star a couple of years ago when Newark won the state high tourney, paced the invaders, playing a guard position and pumping the ball through the hoop for 15 points. He directed the play of the Newark crew throughout. Myers, Newark forward, helped his team's cause with five long shots all made in the last half.

Newark led 9-6 at the end of the first period, but trailed 17-19 at halftime. The C. A. C. held a two point edge as the last quarter started, 33-31, and each team added 15 points in the last canto when play was fast and furious.

The Athletic Club reserves, paced by Harold Smith, who hit for 14 points, defeated John Deere Tractors, comprised of ex-Pickaway Township stars, in a 26-22 game. The reserves led after the first quarter when they trailed 3-7.

In another preliminary, the Flaming Arrow patrol of Boy Scouts won from the Hawk Patrol, 10-5, Nubby Clifton getting five points for the winners.

DANNING TO ASK MORE CASH FOR PLAYING IN 1941

NEW YORK, Jan. 24—The New York Giants had an early season hold-out today in the person of Harry Danning who returned his 1941 contract unsigned with a notation that the figure was too low. It was believed that Danning, one of the best catchers in the National League, was given $15,000 last year.

President Horace Stoneham of the Giants meanwhile advised Morrie Aronovitch, the outfielder recently acquired from Cincinnati, who has a fairly low draft number, to volunteer immediately. By so doing, he can finish his year of army training in time for spring training in 1942 and play a full season. He is likely to be drafted about June and this would keep him out of baseball part of this season and part of next.

FRISCH SAYS ACE PARKER TO DECIDE FUTURE SOON

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Jan. 24—Manager Frankie Frisch of the Pittsburgh Pirates said today that he expects Ace Parker, the star Brooklyn pro halfback, to decide whether he'll continue with pro football or attempt a career in baseball.

Parker is a candidate for short-stop with the Pirates, but Frisch said the Dodgers star has given new thought to continuing with football as a result of being chosen the most valuable player in the National Pro Football league.

Frisch said he believed Parker would make his choice in a week or two.

RED AND BLACK AFTER INITIAL LEAGUE VICTORY

Hillsboro's Indians Come To Town Tonight For SCO Contest

Circleville High cagers will go after their initial South Central Ohio League victory of the season Friday evening when they take on Hillsboro's Indians, victors 42-35 in a game played earlier in the year. The contest will be played on the Athletic Club court, and Tiger athletes have high hopes of turning in a victory despite the fact that the Hillsboro team will be bigger and more rugged than the Red and Black.

The Tigers have lost all three games played in the SCO to date, falling before Hillsboro, Greenfield and Wilmington and having the Washington C. H. game postponed because of the influenza epidemic.

Coach Roy Black was not certain Friday concerning his starting lineup, using several combinations in practice. It was expected, though, that the five that started Tuesday night against Amanda might get the call again. That team had Valentine and Callahan at forwards, Moorehead at center and Staley and Ayers at guard.

A reserve game will start festivities at 7:15 o'clock.

Leo Urdill, Ohio State U. grad, will referee the varsity game, Johnny Heiskell handling the reserve joust.

The outstanding game in the county tonight will likely be between Scioto and Pickaway on the latter's court. Williamsport is host to Walnut, and Jackson moves up to Ashville.

FORFEITS TO BE POSTED FOR JOE LOUIS' CONTEST

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 — Three $5,000 forfeits were to be posted with the State Athletic Commission here today to bind the world's heavyweight championship battle of 15 rounds between Joe Louis and Red Burman Friday night of next week.

Promoter Mike Jacobs, Max Waxman, Burman's manager, and Julian Black, Louis' manager, were ordered to post $5,000 forfeits each today. This is in accordance with the regular rules.

Louis will come down from training quarters at Greenwood Lake, N. Y., and Burman from Summit, N. J., for the ceremonies and formal signing of contracts.

STARS SAY—

For Friday, January 24

ACCORDING to the lunar and mutual aspects this should be another day of mixed influences, with the energies and mentality under favorable stimuli for success and fine constructive work yet beset by the danger or loss through undercurrents or treachery, fraud and sinister intrigues.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year calling for restraints, discretion and subtle treatment in many directions, with particular regard to financial loss, loss of prestige and reputation and also of health. But the mentality and judgment are under such fine stimulus.

A child born on this day may possess splendid mentality and energy with much practical ability and some artistic skill.

Income Tax Law Changes Cut List of Exemptions

Postmaster Says U. S. Aide To Be In Office Three Days To Assist

PENALTIES ARE PROVIDED

Single Persons Earnings As Much As $800 Must File Reports

With changes in the income tax law resulting in fewer exemptions, all persons should consider carefully under what conditions they must register, what constitutes exemptions and what penalties are involved, Postmaster Hulze Hays warned Friday.

A representative from the Treasury Department, Office of Collector of Internal Revenue, Columbus, will be at the postoffice February 19, 20 and 21, to help persons fill out their income tax reports.

Two forms will be used, the postmaster pointed out, one for persons with gross incomes of not more than $5,000 derived from salaries, wages, dividends, interest and annuities, and one for persons with gross incomes of more than $5,000 derived from the same sources or from other sources regardless of the amounts.

Persons who must file returns are:

1. Those who are single or married and not living with husband or wife for any part of the taxable year and having a gross income of $800 or over;

2. Those who are married and living with husband or wife for the entire taxable year. If each has income and their combined gross income is $2,000 or over, they must each make a return or file a joint return. If only one has an income and his gross income is $2,000 or over, only that one is required to make a return.

3. Persons who are married and living with husband or wife for only part of the taxable year. If each has income and their combined gross income is $2,000 or over, or equal to, or more than, their total personal exemptions, they must each make a return or file a joint return. If only one has an income and his gross income is $2,000 or over, or equal to, or in excess of his personal exemption, only that one is required to make a return.

A joint return may be filed by husband or wife only if they are both citizens or residents of the United States and living together at the end of the taxable year. A joint return is permissible even though one has no gross income.

Items wholly or partially exempt include interest on government obligations, proceeds of insurance policies, dividends on share accounts in Federal savings and loan associations and other miscellaneous items.

The tax should be paid to the Collector of Internal Revenue in full when the return is filed, or may be paid in for equal quarterly installments, the payments being due March 15, June 15, September 15 and December 15.

Failing to make a return, or making a false or fraudulent return, or failure to file a return on time is a federal offense and carries severe penalties.

THREE DIVORCE PETITIONS FILED IN COUNTY COURT

Three divorce petitions were filed with the Common Pleas Court, Friday, all charging gross neglect on the part of the defendants.

Ruth Flaker, New Holland, asks that she be divorced from her husband, Leland, and that her maiden name of Ruth Bryant be restored.

Margaret Strawser, Logan Street, in her action against her husband, Carl, asks that she be given a divorce and custody of their minor child, with sufficient alimony for its support.

Charges of desertion have been filed against Roberta Raymond, Columbus, wife of William E. Raymond. In the petition the plaintiff claims his wife left the home on December 4 and has been working in a Columbus night club since then. There are three children in the family.

Swastika Flag Removers in Jail

SEAMEN E. G. Lackey, 23, left, and Harold Jack Sturtevant, 22, right, both of the United States navy, are pictured in San Francisco, Cal., jail after being found guilty of malicious mischief, the result of their entering the grounds of the German consulate in San Francisco and removing a German swastika flag.

without opposition from the Italians.

Meanwhile, estimates of Fascist prisoners captured at Tobruk were still being revised upward. The number is now put at more than 20,000.

(Editors' Note: A report from Melbourne, Australia, said the Anzac commander in Libya informed the Australian government that 25,000 Italian prisoners were taken at Tobruk.)

(Australian casualties did not exceed 300, according to this message.)

(Yesterday the total British imperial casualties at Tobruk were placed at 500 or less.)

Authorities at Tobruk said that small bands of Italians were still being rounded up west of the fallen seaport, and that in these areas all Fascist resistance "virtually has ceased."

In Tobruk itself all resistance ended at sunset on Wednesday. By that time the Solari and Airenzo forts had been silenced and the Pilastrino stronghold had been captured.

DRYDOCK WORK BEING MENACED

propellers, gun mounts, tractors and other heavy machines are among the materials manufactured at the Allis-Chalmers plant, which is the largest in Wisconsin.

Chief issue in the strike is a demand by the CIO for a closed shop, but higher wages and seniority rights also are in dispute.

CHICAGO, Jan. 24—Negotiations between officials of the CIO Farm Equipment Workers Organizing Committee and the International Harvester Company appeared to be stalemated today, but union spokesmen expressed belief new conferences would be held next week.

Two plants of the company, at East Moline and Rock Falls, Ill., already are closed by strikes, and strike action has been voted by CIO unionists at one Harvester plant in Chicago and at the Milwaukee, Wis., plant.

The union seeks wage increases and recognition of the FEWOC as bargaining agent for all of International Harvester's 25,000 employees in eight plants.

URBANA, Jan. 24—Ell Pence, 99, Champaign County's last Civil War veteran, died today.

THOUSANDS MAY BE "ELIMINATED" BY ANTONESCU

Von Killinger, Envoy From Berlin, In Bucharest To Begin Duties

est police barracks were weakening, although they were still offering resistance to loyal Romanian troops.

Travellers who reached Belgrade by air from Bucharest said that Antonescu had been master of the situation since two o'clock this morning.

They declared Bucharest resembled an armed camp, but that the fighting there had subsided.

Gen. Dimitri Polescu, who succeeded Gen. George Petrovicescu as Romanian interior minister—the latter was ousted for failing to do his duty—issued a proclamation claiming resistance of the rebels had been "broken everywhere."

The government was reported in complete control of the railways. Romanians were not permitted to travel.

Bread Shortage Noted

As a result of the days of fighting, travellers declared, Bucharest was beginning to feel a shortage of bread. Supplies of other foodstuffs also were running low.

Eye-witnesses who reached Belgrade said the street fighting in Bucharest reached a climax yesterday between 4 and 5 p. m. when the government troops charged the rebels with every available weapon, including armored cars and tanks.

At the height of this battle the Iron Guardists demanded a government of national concentration "in accord with Germany" but opposing a policy of "surrendering Romania to any foreign country."

LONDON, Jan. 24—Increased Turkish opposition against possible German moves in the Balkans was reported by two London newspapers today.

The Daily Sketch said private information has reached London stating plans have been made under which Romania will be claimed as a German protectorate within three days.

Knowledge of this plan, said the sketch, motivated an announcement by the Ankara radio that "Turkey is ready."

The Daily Express reported that a secret Turkish-Soviet agreement was signed a few weeks ago stipulating that if Bulgaria is attacked or unable to prevent German troop movements through her territory, Turkey will rush to the assistance of Bulgaria with all military forces at her disposal.

If this happens, the Express added, the USSR will supply Turkey with all the planes, arms and munitions that the Russians can spare but will not participate in the fighting.

This agreement, said the Express, explains Turkey's stiffened resistance against the German "threat" to Bulgaria during the last 48 hours.

F. D. R. HINTS BYRNES MAY GET SUPREME COURT JOB

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24—President Roosevelt disclosed today that he had made a selection for the Supreme Court vacancy to be created by retirement February 1 Associate Justice James C. McReynolds—but he added no announcement would be made of that choice for a long, long time.

Fact that the chief executive said it would be weeks, weeks, before the announcement of the new justice was made led to speculation that his choice was Sen. James Byrnes (D) S. C.

Byrnes, as one of the administration wheel horses in the senate, is counted on heavily in the lease-lend bill fight and if he is the President's choice that might be the reason for delay in making the nomination.

BRITAIN'S NEW ENVOY REACHES SHORES OF U. S.

Empire's Newest Warship Carries Halifax, Wife In Secret Journey

Halifax wore his usual black derby, astrakhan-collared greatcoat and carried a neatly rolled umbrella.

At the unnamed port, Lord and Lady Halifax were taken out to the King George V aboard an admiralty gig. Churchill went along with them, and according to current reports, handled the tiller part of the distance to demonstrate his navigational prowess. The prime minister, according to this version, boarded the battleship and said a final farewell to the new ambassador and his wife on deck.

"Graceful Compliment"

All London newspapers featured the story under banner headlines. The Evening News said:

"The visit of H. M. S. King George to the United States is a graceful compliment to the American people and a powerful demonstration to the whole world of our superiority in battleships over the combined battleship forces of Italy and Germany."

DUNLAP FUNERAL RITES TO BE SATURDAY AT 2

Funeral services will be conducted Friday at 2 p. m. at the residence near Williamsport for Mrs. Mary H. Dunlap, 59, wife of Harry Dunlap, who died Thursday in University Hospital, Columbus. The Rev. R. L. Cross of Bowling Green, formerly of Williamsport, and the Rev. R. S. Meyer will officiate with burial in Springlawn Cemetery by C. E. Hill.

Mrs. Dunlap was born in South Charleston, September 20, 1881, a daughter of John and Louise Clements Heiskell. She married Harry J. Dunlap in Williamsport, April 20, 1904.

The husband, a daughter, a son and four brothers survive. Mrs. Dunlap was a past regent of the Pickaway Plains Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution; a member of the Williamsport Methodist Church, the Women's Christian Temperance Union, and leader of the Loyal Temperance Legion for many years.

The family requests that friends omit flowers.

HORSE "ILLEGALLY PARKED"

BRATTLEBORO, Vt.—Apparently there is no escaping justice for illegal parking in Brattleboro. An officer, making his rounds and checking on parking violators, discovered a horse "illegally parked." He wasted no time in carefully placing a chalk line on the horse's hoof.

friends that he feels that there is an alarming drift toward war, and that it must be halted before the nation is engulfed. He thinks that division over the war question is slowing up American rearmament, which he believed is vital.

Some bitter foes of the bill were pessimistic over chances of stopping the measure in the house, but believed they could in the senate. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee will start hearings on the bill Monday with Secretaries of State Hull; War, Stimson; Treasury, Morgenthau, and Navy, Knox, as the first witnesses.
